REPORT TO THE
ALAMEDA COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS
2011 GENERAL PLAN ANNUAL PROGRESS REPORT

PURPOSE OF REPORT

The intent of this report is to demonstrate the County's compliance with the requirements of Government Code Section 65400(b)(1), which mandates the County to prepare an annual report on the status of the General Plan and progress in its implementation. This report will cover the County's development related activities 2007-2009. A copy of this report must be sent to the Governor's Office of Planning and Research (OPR) and the Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD). Providing a copy to HCD fulfills a statutory requirement to report certain housing information, including the County's progress in meeting its share of regional housing needs and local efforts to remove governmental constraints to the development of housing, as defined in Government Code Sections 65584 and 65583(c)(3).

BACKGROUND

According to the Governor's Office of Planning and Research, OPR does not require submission of a detailed progress report while a jurisdiction is in the process of comprehensively updating its general plan. In 2011, the County was preparing several amendments to its General Plan including an update to the Castro Valley General Plan, and a Community Climate Action Plan. In this case, OPR requests that the County provide a brief letter indicating that the comprehensive update is in progress with a brief description of the scope of work and an anticipated completion date. This report is intended to fulfill this requirement.

GENERAL PLAN STATUS

The Alameda County Planning Department serves the unincorporated area of Alameda County, an area of roughly 443 square miles. During the early 2000s, a review of the General Plan was commenced that led to the preparation of a multi-year work program to significantly redesign and update the General Plan by revising the underlying Area Plans which generally cover the western portion of unincorporated Alameda County and are not affected by the East County Area Plan as amended by Measure D, 2002. Measure D was a ballot initiative approved by the voters of Alameda County in 2000 that significantly revised the East County Area Plan and imposed an Urban Growth Boundary in Eastern Alameda County.

The Department is currently in the process of updating the Alameda County General Plan in compliance with Government Code Sections 65300.7, 65301 and 65302. This multi-year planning effort is intended to reflect changing demographics, growth, and infrastructure conditions in the County. It includes a review of critical policy areas, and preparation of associated environmental reports in compliance with California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) requirements.

The unincorporated area is a highly diverse and complex planning environment, necessitating a creative approach to planning. Consequently, the General Plan has several components to address the diverse needs of county residents and to address the full range of urban, suburban and rural land use issues facing the County. One way the General Plan will address complex countywide issues is to encourage infill development in existing urban areas near existing transportation infrastructure via the County's Density Bonus Ordinance and Density Variable Zoning District. By promoting infill development the County wishes to protect open space, by reducing the impacts of sprawl, and to reduce Greenhouse gas emissions by single occupant vehicles.

The following sections describe the County's progress on updating its General Plan:

Housing Element Update (2009-2014)

The Board of Supervisors adopted a comprehensive revision to the Housing Element on March 30, 2010. The adopted element was sent to the State Department of Housing and Community Development (State HCD) for review and certification; however, State HCD would not certify the document pending several revisions. On February 17, 2011, the County was notified that the proposed revisions to the Housing Element were sufficient to comply with housing element law. Based upon that notification, an amendment to the Housing Element was approved by the Board on April 12, 2011, and was transmitted to State HCD for certification. Certification from State HCD was received on April 29, 2011.

Eden Area General Plan

On March 30, 2010 the Eden Area General Plan was adopted by the Board of Supervisors. All Plan documents can be viewed at <http://www.acgov.org/cda/planning/generalplans/index.htm>. Implementation of the Plan will commence in 2012.

Castro Valley Area General Plan

Throughout 2011 staff continued to develop an update to the Castro Valley Area Plan. Several meetings were held in 2010 and 2011, and it is expected that the document will be approved by the Board of Supervisors in 2012. All Plan documents can be viewed at <http://www.acgov.org/cda/planning/landuseprojects/index.htm>.

Community Climate Action Plan

The Community Climate Action Plan (CAP) is a proposed amendment to the County's General Plan that will address the County's goals to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and vehicle miles traveled in accordance with Assembly Bill 32 and Senate Bill 375. Since August 2009, County staff and consultants have been working to draft this document for the unincorporated areas of Alameda County. These communities include Ashland, Castro Valley, Cherryland, Fairview, Hayward Acres, San Lorenzo, Sunol, and Rural East County, a draft of the plan was released in 2010. Adoption of the plan occurred in June of 2011. Staff is now in the process of preparing the CEQA document for the CAP, and the Board of Supervisors will be asked to certify the final CEQA document and amend the General Plan to incorporate the CAP in 2012.

Countywide Elements of the General Plan

The Department will revise the remainder of the following elements: Recreation, Open Space and Agriculture; Noise and Safety. All State-required components of a general plan will either be included in these elements or adopted by reference.

Revisions to Specific Plans

In 2009, the County began a community engagement process for the South Livermore Valley Area Plan (SLVAP). The South Livermore Valley is the largest wine-growing region in Alameda County. The South Livermore Valley Area Plan was adopted in 1993 to promote growth of the wine industry and to ensure the orderly development of the area. As the area's wine industry has matured, the need to review existing policies, to plan for future growth and address issues has become paramount. The revision of the SLVAP was in process throughout 2011.

HOUSING ELEMENT IMPLEMENTATION

The Housing Element contains a broad array of programs with specific time frames for implementation. Many programs are implemented by other agencies; therefore, the actual program work may vary from the original target completion dates. Attachment A summarizes the County's housing program implementation for the 2011 time period.

HOUSING ELEMENT REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

Reporting Overview

The County is required to report certain housing information in accordance with State Housing Element Law (Government Code Sections 65583 and 65584) and the State HCD's housing element guidelines in reporting the County's progress toward meeting regional housing needs.

The Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) has determined that total housing construction need for the unincorporated area of Alameda County is 2,167 housing units for the current planning period of 2007-2014, an annual average of 310 units. This level of construction is deemed necessary by the State to meet both the housing needs of projected growth during the period, and to make up for current housing deficiencies of existing residents. This housing need is further segmented into four broad income categories: Very-low income (536 units), low income (340 units), moderate income (400 units), and above-moderate income (891 units).

From January 1, 2011 to December 31, 2011, the Department of Public Works (DPW), Building Inspections Division (BID) permitted or conducted final inspections for 50 dwelling units. A summary of residential building permits issued during that time period is included as Attachment B. These units have the following income distribution: 3 low income units, 45 moderate income units, and 2 above moderate income units.

Table 1 identifies the housing units for which permits were issued or were otherwise completed from January 1, 2011 through December 31, 2011, as compared to the unincorporated County's share of regional housing needs by income level for the Housing Element period. According to the table, the number of additional dwelling units needed during the remaining period January 1, 2012 – December 31, 2014 is 1,387, or roughly 64 percent of the RHNA allocation.

Source: ABAG, Regional Housing Needs Assessment, 2007; Alameda County Department of Public Works, Building Inspections Division for the number of dwelling units assumed to be constructed during the period January 1, 2011-December 31, 2011. Income categories based on a household of four members and the area median income, which is annually revised by the U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development.

Moderate Income Determination

Sales data from the Alameda County Assessor's office for the period of January 1, 2011 through December 31, 2011 indicates that the median price of a new residential dwelling in the urban unincorporated areas¹ is $376,500. A home with a $376,500 price may be affordable to moderate income household (up to 120% of the area median income) of four earning $110,760.² A housing expense is generally considered affordable when less than 30 percent of a household's gross income is used for housing.³ Contained within Attachment C are the income limits calculated annually by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). These income limits are also used by the County to determine housing affordability. The mortgage for a $376,500 home financed over 30 years at 5 percent interest with a down payment of 10% would cost $1,819.02 per month.⁴ On average property taxes, private mortgage insurance, homeowner's insurance, and maintenance adds approximately one-fourth of the mortgage expense, which in this case would add $454.76 to the total housing expense. So the total housing cost could be estimated at $2,273.78. For a household of four earning $110,760 a year, 30 percent of their gross monthly income would be $2,769.00, thus a median priced home would be affordable to a moderate income household.

The median sale price appears to have been affected by the number of foreclosures of existing and newly constructed homes. More than half of the new homes (4 out of 6, or 66%) sold for $385,000 or less than a price that could be considered affordable to a moderate income household. The previous annual report for 2010 stated that the median sales price in the urban unincorporated areas was $356,000. When compared to the median price of a new home in 2011, a new home would be expected to sell for 5.8% (or $20,500) more. The County has chosen to use this analysis as the basis for its estimates of the affordability of dwelling units within the unincorporated area. Based upon this analysis and information obtained from the Building Inspection Division, staff has concluded that forty-five of the recently permitted dwellings/units would be considered affordable to a moderate income household.

Affordable Housing Developments

The Alameda County Housing and Community Development Department and the Redevelopment Agency both provide financial support to affordable housing developments within the unincorporated areas. In 2011, no new commitments of funding for new large multi-family apartment projects were made.

Second Unit/ Mobilehome Construction

Three secondary units or mobile homes were permitted or constructed during this time period. Due to their costs to develop, and small size relative to other types of projects, staff has determined that these projects may be affordable to lower income households. Although it is not required that these units be rented, these secondary units are similar in size to studio or one bedroom apartments. Current market rent for studio and one bedroom apartments in the area are $1,000 or less.⁵ In addition, mobilehomes have long served as a source of affordable housing particularly for those in the agricultural community. These units are also likely to be affordable to low income households.

Substantial Rehabilitation, Conversion, and Preservation of Affordable Housing Stock

The Alameda County Housing and Community Development Department (County HCD) and the Redevelopment Agency (RDA) both provide financial support to affordable housing developments within the unincorporated areas. In 2011, no new commitments of funding for large preservation or rehabilitation projects were made. However, through the Neighborhood Stabilization Program administered by County HCD, ten single family homes have been purchased, rehabilitated and sold to households at 110% of AMI. These homes were blighted and foreclosed upon, and have been returned to the market. In addition, funding from the Redevelopment Agency provided support for the Single Family Rehab; Curb Appeal; Accessibility Improvement; and the Emergency Minor Home Repair programs.

SUMMARY

The annual report provides information on the status of the County's General Plan and progress toward its implementation. This report also complies with the requirements of State law regarding the preparation and submission of General Plan annual reports. The Planning Department will keep you informed in the upcoming months of the County's progress in implementing the major programs discussed in this report.

This project was halted due to the Recession and resulting reduction in housing production. Several court decisions (such as Palmer/Sixth Street Properties v. City of Los Angeles) have brought into question the legality of Inclusionary Zoning ordinances in California. As a result, the County believes that such an Ordinance is infeasible barring action at the State level. No further action will be taken with respect to this item.
